A diagram showing a cross-shaped arrangement of circular elements. A vertical line 910 and a horizontal line 911 intersect at the center. The vertical line is labeled 910 at the top, and the horizontal line is labeled 911 on the right. A north arrow labeled 'N' points upwards in the top right corner. The arrangement consists of several circles: a top circle 901, a bottom circle 904, a left circle 905, and a right circle 908. In the center, there are two overlapping circles 902 and 903. To the left of the center, there are two overlapping circles 906 and 907. To the right of the center, there are two overlapping circles 907 and 909. The circles are grouped by larger rounded rectangular outlines: 921 for the top and bottom circles, 922 for the left and right circles, and 923 for the central overlapping circles. A small house-like shape 912 is located inside the right circle 909.
